BRITAIN'S CARRIERS, SUNK

Ark Royal, aircraft carrier

LONDON ADMITS
LOSS OF CRAFT

Axis Torpedo Hits Big
Boat; Ministry Says
Death Toll Low

LONDON, Nov. 14—Third of her type to be lost by the British navy since outbreak of the war, the famous aircraft carrier Ark Royal—sunk in fancy by the axis at least a dozen times—has finally been sent to the bottom, the admiralty announced today.

The Ark Royal was torpedoed by a German or Italian submarine. It did not sink immediately and there was time to rescue the bulk of her crew. But the Ark Royal foundered and went under while in the tow of an unidentified vessel.

Thus for the second time in little more than a week, the British navy lost one of its noted vessels. Only a little while ago, the admiralty announced that the destroyer Cassack, hero of the dramatic Altmarr affair and veteran of the battle of Narvik, had been sunk.

The other British aircraft carriers lost were the Courageous, 22,500 tons, torpedoed and sunk on September 17, 1939, and her sister ship the Glorious, sent down in action with the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau off northern Norway on June 8, 1940.

Britain, however, still has a formidable reserve of aircraft carriers.

The Implacable and the Indefatigable are building, while in active service are the Illustrious—heavily attacked at Malta but still in action—the Victorious, the Formidable, the Indomitable, the Furious, the Eagle and the Hermes. The Furious and the Illustrious are believed to have played an important part in the Royal Navy's recent concerted attempts to blow the German and Italian navies out of the Mediterranean.

The Ark Royal was attacked east of Gibraltar while on a mission that was naturally shrouded in wartime secrecy.

The attack apparently took place just before dusk and the Coal Strike Showdown

At Hand; Leaders Meet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—After conferring with President Roosevelt for 35 minutes today in an effort to avert a strike of 53,000 United Mine Workers, John L. Lewis left the executive offices with the terse statement that "any statement will have to come from the White House."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Declaring "coal must be mined," President Roosevelt today met the threatened strike crisis head-on by sending a special communication to Congress asking for legislation to curb labor turmoil.

He gave John L. Lewis and steel companies owning coal mines a last chance to settle their "union shop" dispute at a White House conference during the day.

The conference, bringing together ranking CIO leaders and topflight steel executives, was timed so that Lewis could confer before hand with the full policy committee of 200 of his United Mine Workers Union.

Summoned before the President were Lewis; Philip Murray, CIO president and a vice president of the Mine Workers; Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the Mine Workers; Benjamin Fairless, of U. S. Steel; Frank Purnell, of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Eugene Grace, of Bethlehem Steel.

While Lewis has set Saturday midnight for granting of his demands, the President declared flatly that "coal must be mined in order to keep the essential (steel) mills at work," and he served notice that:

"The government proposes to see this thing through."

If the conferences fail, Mr. Roosevelt seemed determined to appeal to miners to disregard any strike call of their leaders and remain at work under protection of army troops.

A new jury in the case of the Village of Ashville against Walter Cummins was picked Friday and evidence was being presented before Mayor W. B. Cady.

Among those who testified Friday morning was Cecil Scott, Ashville employee, who has charged Cummins with assault and battery. Scott testified that Cummins struck him on the back of the neck when he had gone to Cummins' residence to read a water meter.

Attorneys for Cummins are Ray Davis and Frank Redfern. Emmitt Crist is prosecuting the case for Ashville.

Jurors include Linden Baughman, Circleville; Mrs. Jennie Stump, Darby Township; Francis Neff, Monroe Township; John Kennedy, Muhlenberg Township; Helen Newland, Jackson Township; Elizabeth Ebenback, Deer Creek Township; Everett Beavers, Scioto Township; Laura Rector, Salt Creek Township; Lucille Gilmore, Circleville; Howard Stevenson, Circleville; Elbert McPherson, Muhlenberg Township and Ruth Keller, Deer Creek Township.

A jury failed to reach a verdict in the same case last week.

AKRON SCHOOL GIRL, 14, LEAVES NOTE, ENDS LIFE

AKRON, Nov. 14—A grief-stricken family tried today to discover the meaning of a mysterious note left by their daughter, Geraldine Cook, 14, a Buchtel High student, before she committed suicide by jumping off the North Main Street viaduct.

Her father, Theodore Cook, to whom the note was addressed, said he could not understand what his daughter meant when she wrote:

"Dear Daddy: I am sorry but I can't stand it to be laughed at by everyone. Please forgive me. Love, Chickie."

Cook said "Chickie" was his daughter's nickname.

KUIBYSHEV, Nov. 14—A tremendous new Soviet victory on the northwestern Moscow Front, where Red army forces were declared to have recaptured 20 villages, was reported by the Russian (Tass) news agency today.

The dispatch said the German offensive on the right flank of Kalinin, northwest of Moscow, had been checked and that the Soviets then counter-attacked, recapturing the villages and inflicting huge losses on the Nazis.

Russian authorities also announced terrific Nazi losses on the Moscow, Leningrad and Crimean battle fronts.

The Red army newspaper Red Star said the Germans had been driven from the eastern bank of the Nara River in the direction of Maloyaroslavets, and that the Nazis still were rushing up reinforcements to the Moscow Front.

The high command's noon war communiqué, meanwhile, said fighting continued on all fronts throughout the night.

Russian dispatches told of fierce fighting in the Don Basin but said enemy progress was slow.

Hundreds of columns of smoke were reported rising from exploded mines, burning buildings and slag heaps which had been set on

Francis Huber, 18,
Hurt; Route 23
Bridge Scene

An 18-year-old Ashville autoist, who survived one of the most unusual automobile accidents in Pickaway County history, was reported in "fair" condition Friday in Berger Hospital with a good chance to survive. And Pickaway County authorities who investigated his accident declared his survival to be a miracle of miracles.

Francis Huber, son of Mrs. Hazel Huber, of Ashville, was enroute to his home between 2 and 3 a. m. Friday after working in the NCL Restaurant in Chillicothe. He remembers passing through Circleville, but doesn't recall what happened after that. He told Sheriff Charles Radcliff that he must have gone to sleep.

The youth's car was found just before noon by the sheriff. It was lying demolished in water under a concrete bridge on Route 23 about one and one-half miles north of the Circleville city limits. Young Huber told the sheriff that he "remembered something about a bridge." The sheriff started early in the day to hunt the automobile, and several times had crossed the bridge under which the car was lying.

"Flew" 45 Feet

The Ashville youth is believed to have gone to sleep as his car went over an incline just before it reached the bridge. The car went off the east side of the road, its wheels struck a concrete abutment cracking the heavy bridge part and then the vehicle hurtled through the air and across the creek bed against the stone abutment on the far side of the stream bed. By measurement, the car went through the air for 45 feet and lost less than two feet of its altitude during the "flight."

The car was apparently starting to turn over when it struck the far side of the bridge, the vehicle—a Ford—being crushed beyond repair by the impact. It was thrown backward to the bottom of the creek bed, its rear end touching the mud first and the front end being thrown facing the direction from which the car had come.

Huber doesn't know how he reached Berger Hospital. A trucker, who must have seen the accident, was reported to have taken him to the hospital, but whether Huber was thrown from the car as it left the road or whether he fell out when the wheels hit the south side of the bridge isn't known. It is certain that he wasn't in the car when it hurtled across the creek bed, because he could not have survived.

Head, Tongue Cut

The youth's injuries include severe lacerations on the head, a cut tongue, loss of some teeth and an ankle injury. He was able to talk with the sheriff Friday morning.

Hundreds of cars have passed the bridge under which the Huber car lies, and none of the drivers has known the bridge was the scene of a collision. The wrecker that tries to extricate the vehicle has a real job.

LANA DENIES SHE AND ARTIE TO TRY AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Lana Turner took time out from her New York visit today to deny published reports that a reconciliation between herself and Band Leader Artie Shaw had been effected or was in the offing.

Stories of a reconciliation between the couple were published following a night club date that the blonde film beauty kept with Shaw last night. They were married in 1940 and separated soon afterward.

"I was out with Mr. Shaw last night but the word marriage was never mentioned," Miss Turner said. "I doubt if it was even thought of."

She added there was "no changing" of her mind and concluded: "That goes for Mr. Shaw too."

Another Sea Battle
With Nazis Revealed

Germans Defeated In Conflict Off Coast
Of Iceland, Near Approaches To Russia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The U. S. Navy has had a big battle with Nazi surface and submarine raiders off the coast of Iceland and off the Norwegian approaches to the Russian Arctic ports.

The fight took place early this week and the Nazis definitely came off second best.

The Navy either sank or captured a new type of German war vessel, a mosquito boat carrier. Operating like an airplane carrier, this ship carried a flotilla of small, speedy torpedo launches which were scouring the vital shipping lanes around Iceland.

The carrier was guarded by a number of U-boats, which attacked our naval ships when they went after the carrier. Some of the U-boats were either sunk or captured in the engagement.

What losses, if any, the Navy sustained are not yet known as only the barest details of the battle are so far available. However, it can be definitely stated, that the Nazis were soundly licked.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The Navy today withheld comment on published reports that American warships had engaged in a battle with German surface raiders and submarines near Norwegian approaches to Russian Arctic ports.

Questioned about the report, a Navy spokesman replied: "The Navy has no comment on naval secrets."

REPORTED SAFE

LONDON, Nov. 14—The transport plane which left Kuibyshev in Russia for Teheran, Iran, with a number of British, Russian and American officials on board but failed to reach its destination on schedule was reported safe today.

A Reuters (British) dispatch from Cairo said it was authoritatively stated there that the plane made a safe landing at Pablevi.

Aboard the craft were Laurence A. Steinhardt, American ambassador to Russia, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian envoy to the United States, and Sir Walter Monckton, director of British Information Services in the middle east.

Previously, London officials had expressed fears the plane might have crashed.

Monckton was reported continuing his journey to the middle east.

CLOSE VOTE ON REPEAL OF ACT

U. S. Merchant Vessels May Carry Munitions Into Belligerent Ports

ALL RESTRICTIONS END

Executive Has Right To Send Goods Anywhere
He Wishes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The Navy today ordered immediate preparations to arm American merchant ships as President Roosevelt—happy over his greatest congressional victory on foreign policy—awaited delivery of the bill repealing all major shipping restrictions in the Neutrality Act.

The final seal of congressional approval was written by the House after a hectic battle in which it approved senate amendments to its armed ship bill by a vote of 212 to 194. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to sign the measure Monday.

Congress, by repealing the Neutrality Act ban on arming of merchant ships and sending them through combat zones to belligerent ports, gave Mr. Roosevelt vast authority in the field of world relations.

He may now send American ships from U. S. ports, laden with munitions, to the docks in Liverpool, to China, to Russia, or any belligerent port. He may, legislative experts say, use his authority as commander-in-chief to order the navy and air service to convoy ships through submarine-infested zones.

In its action Congress turned its back on a unique experiment to keep the nation out of foreign wars. It repealed all major provisions of an act first enacted six years ago. It abandoned law to keep merchant ships out of war zones, and thus avoided incidents which may cause war, in favor of a policy of permitting the President to order ships to sail the seven seas to deliver munitions to enemies of the axis nations.

The House stood by the President after a tumultuous two-day debate, with some foes of the proposal asserting that it was tantamount to a war declaration. Speaker Sam Rayburn, however, declared that approval was more likely to preserve peace than defeat.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of the non-interventionists, refused to concede that the vote plunges the nation into war. He

Germans Will Fire On
U. S. Ships, Berlin Says

BERLIN, Nov. 14—American merchant vessels entering battle zones will be shot at a German foreign office spokesman announced today.

Commenting on the revision of the American Neutrality Act, the spokesman said:

"American merchant ships which enter the battle zones face the same fate as anyone attempting to invade the no man's land between the Russo-German lines outside of Leningrad."

The spokesman indicated the German navy would adhere to Chancellor Hitler's orders not to shoot at American warships outside battle zones unless German vessels are attacked.

ROME, Nov. 14—Revision of the American Neutrality Act's major shipping restrictions drew a comment from the newspaper Popolo Di Roma today that "it will not be long before the North American gesture will have logical and fatal consequences."

The newspaper charged that the "scant" congressional majority and the manner in which the amendments were passed by the House in Washington "shows clearly that President Roosevelt and his accomplices acted against the will of the American people."

TOKYO, Nov. 14—The Japanese (Domei) news agency charged today that revision of the United States Neutrality Act "is certain to aggravate the situation in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans."

The agency quoted "informed Japanese circles" as stating they interpreted the congressional vote to amend the neutrality law as "approval of President Roosevelt's war policies."

The newspaper Hoshi said that if the "United States cannot hope for peace in the Pacific if it continues attempts to threaten Japan."

MANY NEW MEN TO TAKE POSTS WITH DIVISION

37th Expects Replacements Of 28-Year-Olds Within Short Time

SPECIAL TRAINING GIVEN

Number Serving Now To Be Used As Instructors For Rookies

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 14.—In preparation for hundreds of new men who will soon replace 28-year-olds in the 37th Division, members of the division's Signal Company at present are being groomed for positions as instructors.

For practice in the art of teaching, company members are now conducting a communication and code school for representatives of every regiment in the division. The school is stressing the theory and practice of telephone, telegraph, radio, pigeon, and message center work.

In addition, advanced courses are being given company members in the theory and practice of radio and telephone electricity. The theory is presented to the men in the classroom, then is put into practice on the field, according to Captain Raymond Strasburger, company commander, who prides his unit for not having lost contact with higher headquarters during the August-September maneuvers.

Many Given Schooling

Most of the company's 200 men have had previous civilian experience in communications work. And many have become specialists through attendance at communication schools at Camp Shelby and Fort Monmouth, N. J.

New telephone and radio equipment has been received by communication units throughout the division. Captain Strasburger discloses. Outstanding is the new vehicular radio set capable of contacting units as far as 20 miles away. Range of the older, smaller sets often was limited to four or five miles.

Although radio communications are more in keeping with the trend of modern blitz warfare, the telephone still has its vital place. Captain Strasburger points out. Wire often is laid with such rapidity it can compete with radio for early contact with rear echelons. The telephone still has the advantage of establishing communication lines over greater distances than radio.

However, all means of contact—wire, telegraph, radio, pigeon, and runner—are used to insure arrival of important messages from front line troops in the event one or more lines of communication fail to function. To assist in the school being conducted at present, training films have frequently been resorted to. As one of its functions, the division signal company distributes training films to the entire division, supplying the various regiments with both projectors and operators.

YOUTHS GO TO JAIL ON AUTO RANSACKING CHARGE

Two 19-year old Pickaway County boys, Harvey Winn of New Holland and James Garvey, Wayne Township, were fined $200 and costs each by Mayor W. B. Cady, Thursday night, for theft of articles from the automobile of Dennis Capper, Monroe Township.

An additional sentence of 60 days was added to the fine against Garvey "because of his conduct." Garvey refused to tell sheriff's officers what he and Winn had done with the tail lights and wrenches they had taken from Capper's car. Later it was discovered the pair had thrown the stolen goods in a creek.

Both youths have served time for stealing sheep from local farmers and Winn was released from County Jail two weeks ago after serving time for stealing gasoline.

"Tremendous" Victory Cited On Moscow Front By Tass Agency

fire and the region was described as a scene of vast destruction which was termed the "Soviets' stroke-hold."

Thousands of German and Italian dead were reported lying in the streets of towns and "stiffening in the night frost."

In a gigantic tank and infantry battle that lasted two weeks on the Moscow Front, it was stated, no less than 29,000 Germans were killed or wounded.

New German attacks on Leningrad were shattered, authorities declared, while in the Crimea the Nazis suffered further heavy losses in furious fighting.

(Editor's Note: Dispatches from Berlin said the Germans have claimed important new advances in the Crimean Peninsula and indicated Nazi occupation of the port of Kerch, facing the Caucasus, is imminent. The Nazis were stated to have reached the narrow strait of Kerch, which separates the eastern Crimea from the Caucasian Coast.)

LONDON ADMITS LOSS OF CRAFT

Ark Royal remained afloat for many hours. Rescue ships had time to reach the scene, and heavy hawsers were attached to the stricken ship in a desperate attempt to tow her to port, probably Gibraltar.

Only a skeleton crew was left aboard, it appeared.

How much progress the limping convoy made was not revealed. But in the early hours of this morning, the rush of water smashed bulkheads and the Ark Royal began to go down. The tow-ropes were cut and the vessel permitted to sink to its fate.

"Heroine" of Movie
Meanwhile, the Ark Royal is the "heroine" of a British naval film, "Ships With Wings," now playing to capacity audiences in London's west end.

(The Ark Royal, completed in 1937, displaced about 27,000 tons when fully loaded, and carried a complement of 1,575 officers and men. According to Jane's Fighting Ships, it carried 60 aircraft.)

The admiralty statement said: "The Board of Admiralty regrets to announce that the aircraft carrier Ark Royal, under command of Capt. L. E. H. Maud, C. B. E., has been sunk."

"She was in tow after having been torpedoed by a U-boat."

Details Not Known
Exact details regarding casualties are not yet known, but reports indicate they are fortunately not heavy, as it is known a very large number of the ship's company was taken off.

"Next of kin of the casualties are being informed as soon as possible."

F. D. WINNER IN CLOSE VOTE ON REPEAL OF ACT

U. S. Merchant Vessels May Carry Munitions Into Belligerent Ports

While Secretary of the Navy Knox prepared to arm ships, only President Roosevelt could say whether American vessels will begin to deliver munitions to British ports.

Knox said that American merchant ships will be armed as they come into port. The process may take months. Navy officers estimated that several hundred out of 1,200 merchant ships—including both those plying the Atlantic and the Pacific—will be armed.

The Navy plans to put 10-man gun crews on the ships. They will be armed, officers said, with three to five-inch guns, which can be used either against submarines or airplanes.

During the World War, Navy records show, 384 ships were armed. While no record of sinking of a submarine was established, the navy estimated that there were over 200 encounters between armed merchantmen and submarines, that 193 attacks were repulsed, and that 34 submarines were damaged.

Mr. Roosevelt, jubilant over the result, telephoned his congratulations to Speaker Rayburn and Democratic Floor Leader McCormack.

Secretary of State Hull said it was an exceedingly wise and timely decision. Knox said the action insures that both the ships and the men will be available to deliver defense aid materials at allied ports and "greatly increases promise of ultimate victory" for Britain, China and Russia.

After the vote administration leaders revealed that they believed yesterday morning they were beaten. They appealed to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, who responded by providing letters which were read to the House. Mr. Roosevelt not only declared that defeat of the senate amendments would discourage Hitler's foes, but would be applauded in Berlin. Both Mr. Roosevelt and Hull personally talked to wavering Congressmen.

The margin of victory, despite work of leaders, was small. A switch of 10 votes would have sunk the senate amendments. The vote showed 189 Democrats, 22 Republicans and one American Laborite for the bill, which 53 Democrats, 137 Republicans, three Progressives and one Farmer-Laborite against it.

Some Republicans boasted that they saved the bill for the White House. They pointed out that the 22 Republicans who voted for it provided the margin of victory.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First Committee, expressed hope today that the closeness of the House vote on repeal of shipping restrictions of the Neutrality Act would have a cautioning effect on President Roosevelt.

"It is to be hoped," Gen. Wood said, "that the closeness of the vote will cause President Roosevelt to proceed cautiously with his plans to send ships to the British Isles and into the war zones."

"The vote shows that in spite of tremendous pressure put on by the administration, it was barely able to bring about the repeal."

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice-chairman of the committee, said: "We are cheered by the closeness of the vote, and we are also cheered by the fact that the British Broadcasting Company was heard to comment that the vote was too close. This is, after all, only an engagement we have lost. The fight is still ahead of us. The country is not at war until Congress so votes, and our members are eager to continue the fight."

LONDON — The Air Ministry announced today that German raiders dropped a few bombs on southwestern England during the night, causing some damage and a "small number of casualties."

HONG KONG—Japanese military reinforcements today were reported massing in the Canton area of southern China. It was understood in Hong Kong that Britons in Canton have been urged to register for evacuation.

VICHY — Premier Mussolini sent personal and the Italian government's official condolences to French Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain today over the death of French War Minister Gen. Charles Huntziger. Otto Abetz, German representative in Paris who will represent Chancellor Hitler at Huntziger's funeral, was expected to reach Vichy late this afternoon.

FIVE YOUNGSTERS RATE EAGLE SCOUT RANKINGS

CHILlicothe, Nov. 14—Five Chillicothe youths were made Eagle Scouts Thursday evening at the Chillicothe District Court of Honor held at the Elks' auditorium.

dential nominee, today hailed as "gratifying" the adoption by congress of amendments to the Neutrality Act.

Willkie, however, blamed the administration's "negligence and muddling in the solution of our industrial labor relations problem" for the narrow margin by which the changes squeezed by the House.

"The close vote in the House of Representatives, however, is unfortunate, because it gives a false impression of the true sentiments of America toward the policy of aggressive aid to the democracies and of America's intent to maintain her right to freedom of the seas."

"Undoubtedly the vote was in part retaliation by Congress for the administration's negligence and muddling in the solution of our industrial labor relations problem, and for its utter disregard of the needs and rights of large elements of our population in the handling of our domestic and foreign defense program."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of Senate non-interventionists, gave notice today that repeal of major Neutrality Act provisions will not halt the drive to keep America out of major participation in a foreign war.

Unlike many foes of Neutrality Act revision, Wheeler refused to concede that scrapping of combat zone provisions is tantamount to war.

"We are going to keep on fighting against total war," he said. "I do not think that repeal of shipping restrictions in the Neutrality Act necessarily means war."

"In closing debate in the House the argument was made by Speaker Rayburn and Democratic Leader McCormack that the bill was a peace measure."

"The President cannot take us to war with a divided country. With all the pressure exerted by the administration, with the White House calling members, with political bosses from all parts of the country calling members, the House concurred in senate amendments by only 18 votes. A switch of 10 votes would have beaten it."

"There probably never has been as much pressure brought to bear as was brought on members of the House. Even Ed Flynn, Democratic national chairman, came down from New York."

"The President no longer has an alibi if he wants to keep us out of war."

QUAKE SHAKES AREA ON COAST

Blackouts from damaged power wires, broken crockery and windows, and temporarily disrupted water and gas mains were reported in Los Angeles proper and scores of other communities within the county limits.

Three blocks of stores and offices in the business district of Gardena were badly damaged, police reported. The corner of a bank building there was shattered, plate glass windows were broken and merchandise in retail stores was sent crashing to the floors. Several walls were knocked down.

Buildings Tremble
Buildings in the downtown district of Los Angeles trembled and creaked under the impact of the shock, but authorities reported no serious damage was done.

Burglar alarms by the score were set off, however, and lights in many sections of the city went out for a few seconds.

Householders, rudely awakened by the jolt, reported that dishes rattled furiously, some said window panes had been cracked, and others reported cracked plaster.

In Torrance, a few miles beyond Gardena, windows of several stores were broken, three water mains burst and a gas main was broken.

Wilmington firemen were called to a storage tank belonging to the General Petroleum Company when the quake apparently caused its seams to open, sending thousands of gallons of crude oil flowing across streets and highways.

In the same vicinity an 8-inch line carrying natural gas was broken, and deputies were forced to rope off the area as a fire precaution until workmen could shut off the flow.

In Long Beach, 25 miles south of Los Angeles, the shock was felt by the entire city, and reports from there said that several plate glass windows in department stores were broken. Cracks were said to have been made in an apartment house.

At the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation in San Pedro a 4800-volt power line was downed and an unestimated amount of damage was caused to several transformers.

The suburb of Inglewood, 12 miles southwest of Los Angeles, apparently was the center of the quake, according to George B. Stewart, seismologist, but no serious damage was done there.

KENTUCKIAN HELD FOR PROBE OF AUTO THEFT

Cain, Elva, Ky., was picked up at Cedarville Thursday by Police Chief William McCrady, Deputy Sheriff Earl Weaver and Patrolman Elmer Merriman on charges of auto larceny.

King was arrested on a warrant filed by his alleged accomplice, William Ray, also of Elva, Ky., who has served 41 days in County Jail for stealing the automobile of Elmer Merriman Jr., of Circleville. In Mayor W. B. Cady's court King was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond. He was committed to County Jail late Thursday.

OPEN LETTERS

TO HUNTERS

MEN: Here is a last warning to you to use every safety precaution in handling your guns when you invade Pickaway County's fields and woodlots beginning Saturday noon. Conservation officers have predicted more hunters this year than ever before, since there is considerable game and since the season opens Saturday noon, making it possible for many city sportsmen to get away from their work. Pickaway County last year was fortunate in having no serious accidents, but there were numerous accidents over the state. Practically all of them were caused by the careless handling of guns.

"Hunt Safely—Return Safely" is the slogan of the hunting season in Ohio. When Ohio nimrods take to the fields they have an opportunity of setting a new record for safety. Conservation commissioners recently issued a timely warning to all sportsmen urging them to follow the "ten commandments of safety" and reciting some of the "dos" and "don'ts" that will save the lives of many hunters if they will heed them. Not only did they urge them to use care that they not become involved in a hunting accident but they also urged them to be real sportsmen; to ask permission of the farmer before hunting on his land and to so conduct themselves that they might be welcome guests on that land. Farmer-sportsmen relationships have greatly improved during the last few years. In fact the farmer himself is a sportsman and it is wrong to even class some as farmers and others as sportsmen—so let us say that those sportsmen who live in town should co-operate with those sportsmen who live on farms. Be careful. Be courteous, this hunting season.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

FOLK: The yearly Red Cross roll call which began November 11 should receive a bigger response than ever this year if the public realizes all that the organization is doing. Expenditures for war relief abroad amounted to nearly $50,000,000 at the end of June. The need is great and includes everything from clothing and medical supplies to comfort and information for scattered refugee families. Meanwhile the home activities of the Red Cross are not neglected, and these depend for their support on the membership dollars which are paid or pledged in November. It should not be necessary to tell many Americans what those home activities are—disaster relief, service to the armed forces, public health and home nursing, accident prevention and life saving instruction. There are many different appeals for financial aid these days. Special needs caused by war in other parts of the world have touched the heart of America and moved our people to great generosity. But we must not, for such reasons, slacken in vital work at home. Membership for the year 1939-40 was 7,139,263. The total this year ought to be pushed up to 10,000,000 by a nation aware of its blessings and opportunities.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

GENTLEMEN: Results of a recent school bus inspection by the State Highway Patrol have shown that this year Pickaway County has ten buses rated as class A, nine more than last year. To get such a rating a school bus must be almost mechanically perfect. Brakes must be in good condition, there must be lights and safety devices which meet the rigid standards of the highway patrol. Of the ten buses placed in the class A group three are board-owned. Others are owned and maintained by private drivers. Of the county's seventy-five buses 61 received a rating of class B with only minor defects discovered. Only four buses were placed in class C. The report indicates that bus drivers as well as school authorities and boards of education are interested in the safe transportation of their school pupils. A bus in good mechanical condition is one of the requisites in getting youngsters safely to and from school.

CIRCUITEER.

TO KIWANIS CLUB

MEMBERS: The crowd that visited the Grand Theatre Wednesday night to see the first in a series of amateur programs sponsored by you and the Grand Theatre management indicates that the idea has met with the approval of the public. Another thing which the program showed was that there is much talent in our schools which is encouraged by such programs. That talent is not in any one school, even though that school may get the prize. It is scattered throughout the county and can thrive and grow under such encouragement as you are giving it.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ARMISTICE SPONSORS

VETERANS: Although the weatherman was determined to break up your program by trying to send a shivering audience home before the ceremonies were completed, your Armistice Day program on the steps of the Elks Lodge was impressive and attracted a surprisingly large number of persons. Many have pointed to the irony of holding Armistice Day services in times when half the world is at war, but conditions abroad cannot detract from the significance of honoring those who already have sacrificed their lives for freedom, nor can they minimize the value of ideals for which those lives were given.

There always are objectors to cat skinning, and to this prospective affair plenty of objections will come from some of Harold's oldest political friends, including aged Senator George W. Norris, Chairman David Lillenthal of TVA, Homer T. Bone, the state of Washington's senatorial gamecock, now in the hospital, and many another veteran of the late wars against the so-called "Power Trust."

To mix metaphors, Harold is playing for high stakes. He wants to be personal dictator over all the electric power (hence the economic and industrial life) of the Pacific northwest. The nucleus would be the giant federal Columbia River dams at Bonneville and Grand Coulee.

His opponents, though, want this power empire ruled by a three-man, presidentially appointed board, like the Tennessee Valley Authority—not an absolute dictatorship but responsible to the White House.

The fight presents a spectacle somewhat similar to a row among the expectant heirs of a sick man, who, however, hasn't definitely decided yet to die and leave his estate to 'em. That is, both sides to the power argument proceed on the assumption that the privately-owned utilities, representing a half billion-dollar investment, are about to yield to public ownership pressure and retire from the field, with what they can salvage through condemnation proceedings or negotiation sales. If so, the would-be dictator or proposed three-man authority will inherit what the private companies abandon.

Such gessing isn't so far off, at that, if either of two pending bills becomes law.

ADMINISTRATION DIFFERS

The only significant difference between the Ickes bill (known as the Hill bill) and the Bone-Smith bill (embodying the Authoritarians' plan) lies in the manner in which Pacific Northwestern public power will be administered.

Both are popularly called the "CVA bill"—CVA for Columbia Valley Administration (the Ickes concept) and also for Columbia Valley Authority the scheme of the three-man board advocates). Both provide funds and authority for seizure of the entire privately-owned utility systems of the region, and theoretically, at least, there's no boundary or limit to the extent of the chosen agency's operations.

So angry has Ickes become that he's publicly charged his opposition, and Senator Bone specifically, with being mere "stooges of the Power Trust." Bone—whose whole political career rests on the keystone of opposition to private utilities!

The Washington senator's having a long convalescence from a broken hip and hasn't yet taken the congressional floor to answer Ickes, but when he does his remarks should be worth listening to. He has a low boiling point, anyway, and a man could sit all day thinking a goat-getting observation about him without improving on the one Ickes pulled. Dave Lillenthal is said to have drafted the Authoritarian feature of the Bone-Smith bill, which has the endorsement of the dean of all utility-baiters, Senator Norris. On the opposite hand, Harold asserts that President Roosevelt is on his side, as is Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican leader in the legislators' upper chamber. How strong his support will be in a pinch is problematic.

Still another group in the Pacific northwest, consisting of reclamation and business organizations, allied with cities which already have publicly-owned electric systems and which fear federal domination, opposes both the Ickes and Bone-Smith plans and is pushing for "home rule" administration.

PRIVATE FIRMS SILENT

The private utilities are maintaining a discreet silence. They'd like to work out an agreement for power interchange on a basis that wouldn't further duplicate their systems. But that wouldn't make either Ickes or Bone happy.

Meanwhile the Ickes-Authoritarian conflict is raging on another front. Again drafted by Lillenthal and introduced by Representative Clyde T. Ellis of Arkansas, in a paraphrase of the Bone-Smith bill, there's pending an Arkansas Valley Authority bill, embracing all or part of eight states. Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, though is fighting for the Arkansas Valley adoption of the Ickes program. There may, indeed, be an A.V.A. trial skirmish before the main showdown on the two CVA propositions.

They're all scheduled for hearings later in this session.

Effects of Climate and Humidity on Arthritis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● The sufferer with chronic arthritis gets along all right in our North American summer, but with winter just around the corner, he begins to want to go to some climate where the weather at least won't be considered an enemy and add to the discomfort. Where to go is a problem. If I can judge of its extent by inquiry—

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ies in my mail, it affects a good many people. Of course an easy answer is to go to a winter climate as nearly like the summer climate where you were comfortable, but that is not always possible.

Some people are so suspicious that they want to know how much arthritis the natives have before they settle down somewhere. My Uncle Johnny was like that. He was a rare sufferer from arthritis and once my father sent him to a resort, for which we had heard great claims as to its arthritis treatments. My Uncle Johnny went, but he came back in four days. He said the first day he went to the pool of the healing waters and an attendant, waist deep in the pool, applied them all over my Uncle Johnny's joints.

Gave Up Treatment
It appeared to do him a world of good, and he went back next day for more. He asked for the same attendant, but was told he was home with an attack of arthritis. My Uncle Johnny packed his grips and made for the train. He said a man who had stood waist deep in that healing water for twenty years got arthritis, it was no treatment for him.

That is mixing things up. What brings arthritis on, we don't know, and it may attack a person in a climate that makes for the maximum of comfort for other arthritic patients. Climate is a composite of temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, atmospheric electricity and other factors. Drs. Rentschler, Vanzant and Rontree found in a study of "Arthritis Pain in Relation to Change in Weather" that barometric pressure influenced the symptoms of arthritis more consistently than temperature or humidity. This, of course, is no news to the old gaffer who can tell when a storm is brewing on account of his knees and fingers.

Effect of Humidity

Humidity does play a part. The arthritic feels better on cold, dry days than on cold, damp days; also better on hot, dry days; and on hot, humid days they may feel worse than in winter. Despite the cold none of Scott's or Shackleton's arctic explorers had rheumatism or arthritic symptoms.

Despite the shifts in temperature between winter days and nights in Arizona, arthritic patients feel better there because of the stability of barometric pressure and humidity.

Of importance for all arthritics is what Leonard Hill in "Rheumatism and Climate" called the "micro-climate" of home and working place. Here temperature and dampness can make the arthritic very uncomfortable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
E. B.: "Is there anything wrong or harmful in the combination of orange juice and milk? I drink a glass each for breakfast—not mixed but separate—and my mother insists it is a bad combination."

Answer: Nothing the least harmful in the combination of orange juice and milk. Orange juice adds vitamins and sugar and energy to the diet, the milk gives nourishment and calcium. They are digested together without harming one another or straining the stomach. Little babies get the combination—so it should be all right.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Week Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SYNOPSIS
FRED MOSHER, up-and-coming young real estate dealer in a southern town, long has been the suitor of SUSAN FARMER, who has rejected all his proposals because she feels that she has the duty of replenishing the family fortune for her aunt.

MISS ALICE FARMER, who lives with Susan on the family plantation.

ROY LEONARD, inspired by the memory of a farm girl he met when he was 16, is the young advertising man who gets the idea of a contest to find the "typical farmer's daughter." He is engaged to marry

IRENE CARTER, secretary to the head of the company.

CHAPTER SEVEN
MISS CARTER went back to watching the vice president, the second vice president and the stockholders, as they read Susan Farmer's letter and examined her picture.

There was no doubting the fact that they were impressed.

In fact, Irene thought, impressed was hardly the word. As Susan's picture left a masculine hand, it left a masculine face looking dreamy, sentimental, romantic. It was as though the mere glimpse of Susan's smiling face had stirred memories that were warm and sweet.

"Men," said Irene under her breath. "Just a lot of silly softies—that's all."

She looked at Roy Leonard and frowned. A rising young advertising man—the man she was planning to marry—about to turn nursemaid to a bit of femininity from a farm. It was disgusting. A little while ago he hadn't had time for anything but work, the struggle to put this advertising stunt over, and now there he sat, looking positively angelic because he was going to neglect the advertising job in order to see Manhattan island with a female book. Men!

"It's not," Mrs. Daniel Van Wert Jones was saying, "that I don't think this Susan Farmer appears to have all the qualifications Dainty Diana Dairies has been looking for in the typical farmer's daughter—it's not that."

"Then what in blazes is it?" said Mr. Jones. "Get to the point, woman—get to the point."

"I feel it's wrong to reach out and pluck her from her peaceful surroundings, and dump her down in—"

"Nobody's going to dump her down anywhere, Mr. Jones. She'll be met with a band at Pennsylvania station and escorted up to Broadway to Radio Center, where—"

"May I make a suggestion, Mr. Jones?" Irene asked.

"Certainly you may," Mr. Jones smiled benignly. "You know I always encourage my employees to speak out."

"It's about Mr. Leonard."

"Yes, go on."

"Don't you think it would be a good idea to have him wear a suit of armor?"

"Armor?" said Roy. "What for?"

"Yes, Miss Carter, what for?" said Mr. Jones.

"It would make him look like a Knight of Old, protecting his lady fair," said Irene. "And then there's the advertising space."

"What advertising space?"

"On the armor, you know—the words 'Dainty Diana Dairies' painted across the back and front."

Irene shrugged. "Only there's a chance that someone might mistake him for a can of milk."

Mr. Jones showed his displeasure.

"Jealous?" asked Roy. He didn't wait for an answer.

"Miss Carter," he said, "this is no time for flippancy."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Jones. Only I wasn't being flippancy."

Roy tried to get a word in, but there was no time for further talk. Mr. Jones had taken the floor, and was calling for votes.

Soon the room was full of suggestions and discussions.

I think this . . . I think that. We ought to see that the girl is constantly in the spotlight. . . .

Get her on radio programs as a guest. . . . Have her seen, simply gowned, at this theater and that one. . . . Let her be seen strolling along Fifth Avenue in her gingham gown and sunbonnet.

"And land in Bellevue as a result," said Irene.

"Keep quiet," said Roy.

"Well!" Irene exploded. "Of all things!"

"And," said Mrs. Jones, "she can stay with us, Daniel Van Wert, where I can keep an eye on her."

"Nonsense!" said Mr. Jones. "She's going to stay at a hotel on Park Avenue—for contrast, you know."

"Oh, piffle!"

"She's got to be accessible to news photographers, reporters—be where she can be interviewed, seen. Isn't that right, gentlemen?"

"Quite right!" said the vice president and seven stockholders in unison.

The voting went on. So did the discussion.

"And now, gentlemen," Mr. Jones said finally, "the winner is Miss Susan Farmer of Ardenale."

He bowed to Susan's picture, which was propped up in front of him. "Miss Typical Farmer's Daughter, we salute you! Your picture shall be on all the Dainty Diana Dairy products, and—"

"Especially the strong cheese," said Irene.

"What's that, Miss Carter?"

"Nothing, sir."

"And, the least you can do, Daniel Van Wert," she said, "is to permit me to give a dinner for the girl."

"We shall see," said Mr. Jones.

tained 19 of her girl friends at dinner and a theatre party.

Earl Raymond, the young soldier of Company H of Chilli-cothe who was accidentally killed on the Mexican border, was buried in Mt. Pleasant cemetery at Kingston, a detachment of Spanish war veterans firing a salute over his grave.

Mr. Harry Waldelich and Miss Tribby Wise, both of Washington Township, were married November 9 in the parsonage of Calvary Evangelical Church by the Rev. W. H. McLaughlin.

Social Function Big Success Thursday

Outstanding socially was the card party of the Altar Guild of St. Joseph's Catholic Church when about 250 persons gathered Thursday in the church social room for the largest social function of the fall season. Sponsored by the finance committee of the Guild, Mrs. Ralph Head as general chairman was assisted by Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, Mrs. Ned Landis and Mrs. Tom Lake, co-chairmen, the four being members of this committee.

Baskets of garden chrysanthemums made a colorful background for the party. Forty-five tables of four-hand card games were in play during the affair, in addition to other amusing games. Many guests passed the evening in informal visiting.

Prizes were awarded the high score holders at each table. Ice cream and home-made cake were served at the small tables after the hour of play.

Frank Lynch conducted a lively auction of donated articles at the close of the party.

Mrs. Head's committee chairmen included Mrs. Joe Burns, chairman of properties; Mrs. Allen Thornton, prizes; Mrs. Tom Gilliland and Miss Marie More-shauser, tickets; Mrs. Charles Brannon and Miss Mary McKenzie, food, dishes and silver, and Miss Anna Shea, publicity.

Mrs. J. C. Rader, president of the Altar Guild, assisted in the work of the committees, all Guild members responded with help in various capacities.

HAWKEYES MAY SURPRISE FAST GOPHER OUTF

Buckeyes Should Take Illini, But Will They?

By Irven Scheibeck

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—A football series which annually ignores the present to delve into the glories of the past is renewed here tomorrow when Ohio State and Illinois clash in a Homecoming gridiron spectacle before 50,000 spectators.

Illinois, unsuccessful in every major game this season, is rated as a dangerous opponent strictly on memory, by certain oldsters who recall only those momentary upsets of 1919 and 1921 completely ignoring the fact that in recent years, the Zuppemen have provided little better than a brisk workout for the big, powerful teams which annually sweep out of the Ohio State dressing room.

For instance, Illinois hasn't won a game in the stadium since 1929; Illinois has won but one game out of the last 11, a 14-13 decision in 1935, and Illinois, in the cold light of critical analysis, doesn't figure to finish within three touchdowns of the Buckeyes if the game follows the form chart in any particular. Once on a time, Ohio State-Illinois games had the element of uncertainty. The last few starts have produced uncertainty only in the size of the score the Buckeyes have been able to register. Even in 1939, the last year Illinois enjoyed any success at all in Conference play, defeating a great Michigan team among others, the Buckeyes had no trouble in producing a three-touchdown victory. Last year, a disension-riddled Ohio State team took Illinois in stride to win, 14 to 6.

Still Contender Ohio enters the game as an outside contender for the Big Ten championship, their hopes riding on the possibility that either Iowa or Wisconsin will be successful in tripping up undefeated Minnesota. In this event, the Buckeyes could get a share of the title by downing Illinois and Michigan in the finale next Saturday at Ann Arbor.

This possibility is expected to prevent the Bucks from letting down enough for Illinois to pull a surprise out of the hat, this and the natural urge to close Paul Brown's first home campaign with another victory. It will mark the final stadium appearance of the entire Buckeye backfield; Jack Graf, fullback; Dick Fisher and Tom Kinkade, halfbacks and John Hallabrin, quarterback. Other regulars who will be playing their final home games include Captain Jack Stephenson, Jim Daniell and Thornton Dixon, tackles and Fritz Howard, guard. Also donning scarlet togger at home for the last time will be Ed Bruckner, guard, Pete Hershberger, end; and Sam Fox, an end.

With the exception of Linn Houston, regular guard, who is out of action with a knee injury, Pete Hershberger, substitute end and Dick Zimmerman, third-string tackle, both out with leg hurts, Ohio will be at full strength. Illinois too, appears ready for the word with all of its top performers in good physical condition.

Griffin, Smith Good The Illini will be gambling on the all-around backfield ability of Don Griffin, big sophomore halfback and Jimmy Smith his hard-hitting running mate. In an effort to crack the Buckeye defenses which was proved vulnerable to air tactics, the Illini are expected to start throwing the ball early and often.

Before leaving Campagna this morning, Bob Zuppke, Illinois coach, bringing his fourteenth team to Columbus announced two lineup changes, one sending Isaiah Owens, Negro sophomore to right end in place of James McCarthy and another putting Walter Cor-rell, another sophomore at full-back in place of Myron Pfeifer. This will give the Illini six sophomores, three juniors and two seniors in the starting lineup.

CLEVELANDER TO SEEK BIG TILTS IN SQUARED RING

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14 — A heavyweight elimination in Cleveland to determine the outstanding challenger for the crown ensconced on the ebony head of Joe Louis took form rapidly today as Bob Brickman—the little attorney-fight promoter with the magic touch—dreamed of 1942 and big gates.

Brickman, who brought the art of slam back to its rightful place in Cleveland has these possibilities in mind: Bob Pastor to fight the winner of the Melio Bettina-Jimmy Bivins fight next Monday night at the arena, with 'e winner in that match to meet Lem Franklin, Cleveland Negro, for the top challenging spot.

None of that can come about, however, until Pastor's hands heal and Franklin recovers from a broken left thumb, received last month when he whipped Abe Simon.

Pastor banged up his tender dukes in beating Booker Beckwith in Chicago so Brickman can't hope for much action from Pastor or Franklin until sometime in January.

Brickman, whose faith in Cleveland fight fandom finally is paying him returns in the form of heavy green stuff, has his matchmaker, Larry Atkins in New York to see the Gus Lemevich-Tami Mauriello bout tonight.

HERALD GUNMEN WINS OPENER BY SINGLE POINT

Herad riflemen won their opening match with the Euchre team Thursday night, crowding out their opponents by one point. The score was 465 to 465. Individual scores made were:

Hardin	L. Bower

Big Scout Rally To Be Staged Here December 4

All Members Of Troops And Their Parents Invited To Major Event

DINNER BEING PLANNED

Leaders Meet Next Week To Outline Program For Activities

Boy Scout Field Executive Robert Scanland announced plans Friday for an annual Boy Scout meeting which will bring together all of the county's scouts, cubs and their parents in one big gathering.

The annual meeting will be held in Memorial Hall Thursday evening, December 4. A pot-luck supper will be among the attractions of the evening. Various demonstrations in scoutcraft will be put on by troops and patrols of the county, and negotiations are being made to secure a speaker and special music for the program.

Scanland predicts that with an all-out attendance more than 400 Scouts and parents will be at the meeting. The affair will be the first of its kind ever held in Pickaway County, but the plan has worked out successfully in neighboring counties and with the cooperation of the scoutmasters, scout officials believe the program will be successful here.

Leaders to Confer

Scouters of the county will meet next Wednesday night, November 19, in the office of William D. Radcliff to make definite plans for the annual meeting and to discuss their program to increase Scout enrollment in the county.

Boy-fact surveys have been made in many communities in the county to determine the number of boys interested in the scouting program. Several troops are in the process of formation at present.

Scouts of the city and county are busy practicing first aid for the district and Council-wide First-Air-O-Ral in which all Scout troops will take part. The plan has been inaugurated by the Central Ohio Area Council to stimulate defense and emergency action of a nature definitely related to the scouting program.

Each Scout troop is entering a team or teams in the District meet for Scouts of Fairfield, Hocking and Pickaway Counties which will be held at the Sherman Armory in Lancaster, Saturday, December 6, at 3 o'clock.

First Aid problems being used are of a practical nature and will train Scouts for active service in any emergencies. Following the District meet winning patrols will go to Columbus during Boy Scout Week in February for an area-wide final contest.

EXPLORER FACES CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14—Dr. Arthur Torrence, 55-year-old explorer and authority on tropical diseases, was held by police at Monterrey, Mexico, today on a charge of murdering his wealthy bride, the former Mrs. Ada Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich.

He was arrested three days after his wife had been buried and her death marked down as a routine accident case.

Mrs. Torrence, according to the doctor, died Saturday at the steering wheel of her automobile while driving south of Monterrey. According to police, Dr. Torrence said his wife swerved to avoid a truck and struck her head against the rear-view mirror.

At first this version of the accident was accepted and police permitted the body to be buried without an autopsy.

Later, however, the doctor was detained after Richard Loveland of Los Angeles, Mrs. Torrence's son, flew to Monterrey and investigated his mother's death, advancing the theory she was murdered.

DOCTORS WARN HOUSEWIVES TO WATCH 'FEVER'

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14 — Three important points for hunters and housewives who prepare wild game for cooking to remember if they would avoid the menace of tularemia or "rabbit fever" were cited today by the Ohio State Medical Association on the eve of the hunting season. They were:

1. Always wear rubber gloves when preparing game for cooking, and make certain the gloves are not punctured by knives or bone slivers.
2. Wash blood stains from the skin with plenty of soap and water as quickly as possible and follow the washing with a disinfectant, if available.
3. Cook wild game thoroughly. This kills tularemia germs, but they can live in the red juices of partly cooked meat. Ordinary refrigeration does not kill the organism.

Although 90 percent of tularemia cases are traced to rabbits, the physicians said the disease also has been found in squirrels, opossums, foxes, quail, groundhogs, muskrats and even domestic dogs and cats.

In 1940, 59 cases of tularemia and seven deaths were reported to the state health department, in marked contrast with the 122 cases and 20 deaths from the disease in 1939.

Anti-tularemia serum, developed by Cincinnati medical research workers, is now available to physicians. The serum is said to have proved effective in 99 percent of the cases tried, but it still is in the experimental stage.

OHIO SOLDIERS MAY BE SENT TO COAL FIELDS

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov. 14 —While Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of Ohio's 37th division at Hattiesburg, Miss., was in Washington conferring with the army general staff, it was reported today that the division was under "stand-by" orders.

No official explanation was given for the alert order which was issued Wednesday. However, it was reported that the army plans sending the division into

Pennsylvania or West Virginia coal fields for patrol duty if strikes are not settled.

Inauguration of strike-duty classes in the division gave credence to the report. Troops were being schooled in methods of controlling and dispersing crowds.

Col. Charles F. Craig, chief of staff in the absence of General Beightler, said no formal orders regarding troop movement had been received.

In times like these, it is terrible to contemplate the threat of allowing only six percent on investment.

KENTON MAYOR, ELECTED FOR THIRD TERM, DIES

KENTON, Nov. 14—Elis H. McFarland, 52, mayor of Kenton for four years and re-elected November 4, died of cancer of the lung. He campaigned for re-election on his record of paying $35,000 in unsecured claims inherited from previous administration. McFarland was past president of the chamber of commerce, past commander of the Kenton American Legion post, and active in boy scout, church and civic affairs. He served overseas during the World War. His widow, three daughters and a son survive. Funeral services will be held Sunday.

LONDON ADMITS LOSS OF CRAFT

Axis Torpedo Hits Big Boat; Ministry Says Death Toll Low

LONDON, Nov. 14—Third of her type to be lost by the British navy since outbreak of the war, the famous aircraft carrier Ark Royal—sunk in fancy by the axis at least a dozen times—has finally been sent to the bottom, the admiralty announced today.

The Ark Royal was torpedoed by a German or Italian submarine. It did not sink immediately and there was time to rescue the bulk of her crew. But the Ark Royal, foundered and went under while in the tow of an unidentified vessel.

Thus for the second time in little more than a week, the British navy lost one of its noted vessels. Only a little while ago, the admiralty announced that the destroyer Cossack, hero of the dramatic Almarik affair and veteran of the battle of Narvik, had been sunk.

The other British aircraft carriers lost were the Courageous, 22,500 tons, torpedoed and sunk on September 17, 1939, and her sister ship the Glorious, sent down in action with the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau off northern Norway on June 8, 1940.

Britain, however, still has a formidable reserve of aircraft carriers.

The Implacable and the Indefatigable are building, while in active service are the Illustrious—heavily attacked at Malta but still in action—the Victorious, the Formidable, the Indomitable, the Furious, the Eagle and the Hermes. The Furious and the Illustrious are believed to have played an important part in the Royal Navy's recent concerted attempts to blow the German and Italian navies out of the Mediterranean.

The Ark Royal was attacked east of Gibraltar while on a mission that was naturally shrouded in wartime secrecy.

Coal Strike Showdown At Hand; Leaders Meet

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—After conferring with President Roosevelt for 35 minutes today in an effort to avert a strike of 53,000 United Mine Workers, John L. Lewis left the executive offices with the terse statement that "any statement will have to come from the White House."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Declaring "coal must be mined," President Roosevelt today met the threatened strike crisis head-on before sending a special communication to Congress asking for legislation to curb labor turmoil.

He gave John L. Lewis and steel companies owning coal mines a last chance to settle their "union shop" dispute at a White House conference during the day.

The conference, bringing together ranking CIO leaders and topflight steel executives, was timed so that Lewis could confer before hand with the full policy committee of 200 of his United Mine Workers Union.

U. S. TO REMOVE MARINE UNITS FROM FAR EAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—President Roosevelt today announced decision to withdraw approximately 900 U. S. Marines from China.

The decision was announced on the eve of arrival in Washington of Saburo Kurosu, special Japanese ambassador, for important conversations dealing with the strained Far Eastern relations.

Mr. Roosevelt read a bare announcement sent to him from the State Department during the course of his press conference this morning which said merely that the United States government had determined to withdraw its marine forces from Peiping, Tientsin and Shanghai.

When Mr. Roosevelt a week ago announced that this government was considering the move, it was made plain in official quarters that the step would only be taken if an outbreak of hostilities in the Far East was feared.

At that time it was explained that the marines would be at the mercy of Japanese forces which control the three cities in the event of trouble, hence they would be withdrawn in advance to prevent their capture or annihilation.

However, the chief executive was asked bluntly today whether he anticipated war in the Far East.

Mr. Roosevelt, emphasizing each word, said he sincerely trusted not.

AKRON SCHOOL GIRL, 14, LEAVES NOV. ENDS LIFE

AKRON, Nov. 14—A grief-stricken family tried today to discover the meaning of a mysterious note left by their daughter, Geraldine Cook, 14, a Buchtel High student, before she committed suicide by jumping off the North Main Street viaduct.

Her father, Theodore Cook, to whom the note was addressed, said he could not understand what his daughter meant when she wrote:

"Dear Daddy: I am sorry but I can't stand it to be laughed at by everyone. Please forgive me. Love, Chickie."

Cook said "Chickie" was his daughter's nickname.

"Tremendous" Victory Cited On Moscow Front By Tass Agency

FLANK ATTACK HALTED Germans Still Rushing Big Reinforcement Units Into Central Region

KUIBYSHEV, Nov. 14—A tremendous new Soviet victory on the northwestern Moscow front, where Red army forces were declared to have recaptured 20 villages, was reported by the Russian (Tass) news agency today.

The dispatch said the German offensive on the right flank of Kalinin, northwest of Moscow, had been checked and that the Soviets then counter-attacked, recapturing the villages and inflicting huge losses on the Nazis.

Russian authorities also announced terrific Nazi losses on the Moscow, Leningrad and Crimean battle fronts.

The Red army newspaper Red Star said the Germans had been driven from the eastern bank of the Nara River in the direction of Maloyaroslavets, and that the Nazis still were rushing up reinforcements to the Moscow front.

The high command's noon war communiqué, meanwhile, said fighting continued on all fronts throughout the night.

Russian dispatches told of fierce fighting in the Don Basin but said enemy progress was slow.

Hundreds of columns of smoke were reported rising from exploded mines, burning buildings and slag heaps which had been set on

ANOTHER TRIAL OF VILLAGER'S CHARGE STARTS

A new jury in the case of the Village of Ashville against Walter Cummins was picked Friday and evidence was being presented before Mayor W. B. Cady.

Among those who testified Friday morning was Cecil Scott, Ashville employee, who has charged Cummins with assault and battery.

Scott testified that Cummins struck him on the back of the neck when he had gone to Cummins' residence to read a water meter.

Attorneys for Cummins are Ray Davis and Frank Redfern. Emmitt Crist is prosecuting the case for Ashville.

Jurors include Linden Baughman, Circleville; Mrs. Jennie Stump, Darby Township; Francis Neff, Monroe Township; John Kennedy, Muhlenberg Township; Helen Newland, Jackson Township; Elizabeth Ebenbach, Deercreek Township; Everett Beavers, Scioto Township; Laura Rector, Saltcreek Township; Lucille Gilmore, Circleville; Howard Stevenson, Circleville; Elbert McPherson, Muhlenberg Township and Ruth Keller, Deercreek Township.

A jury failed to reach a verdict in the same case last week.

Francis Huber, 18, Hurt; Route 23 Bridge Scene

An 18-year-old Ashville autoist, who survived one of the most unusual automobile accidents in Pickaway County history, was reported in "fair" condition Friday in Berger Hospital with a good chance to survive. And Pickaway County authorities who investigated his accident declared his survival to be a miracle of miracles.

Francis Huber, son of Mrs. Hazel Huber, of Ashville, was enroute to his home between 2 and 3 a. m. Friday after working in the NCL Restaurant in Chillicothe. He remembers passing through Circleville, but doesn't recall what happened after that. He told Sheriff Charles Radcliff that he must have gone to sleep.

The youth's car was found just before noon by the sheriff. It was lying demolished in water under a concrete bridge on Route 23 about one and one-half miles north of the Circleville city limits. Young Huber told the sheriff that he "remembered something about a bridge." The sheriff started early in the day to hunt the automobile, and several times had crossed the bridge under which the car was lying.

"Flew" 45 Feet

The Ashville youth is believed to have gone to sleep as his car went over an incline just before it reached the bridge. The car went off the east side of the road, its wheels struck a concrete abutment cracking the heavy bridge part and then the vehicle hurtled through the air and across the creek bed against the stone abutment on the far side of the stream bed. By measurement, the car went through the air for 45 feet and lost less than two feet of its altitude during the "flight."

The car was apparently starting to turn over when it struck the far side of the bridge, the vehicle—a Ford—being crushed beyond repair by the impact. It was thrown backward to the bottom of the creek bed, its rear end touching the mud first and the front end being thrown facing the direction from which the car had come.

Huber doesn't know how he reached Berger Hospital. A trucker, who must have seen the accident, was reported to have taken him to the hospital, but whether Huber was thrown from the car as it left the road or whether he fell out when the wheels hit the south side of the bridge isn't known. It is certain that he wasn't in the car when it hurtled across the creek bed, because he could not have survived.

Head, Tongue Cut

The youth's injuries include severe lacerations on the head, a cut tongue, loss of some teeth and an ankle injury. He was able to talk with the sheriff Friday morning.

Hundreds of cars have passed the bridge under which the Huber car lies, and none of the drivers has known the bridge was the scene of a collision. The wrecker that tries to extricate the vehicle has a real job.

LANA DENIES SHE AND ARTIE TO TRY AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Lana Turner took time out from her New York visit today to deny published reports that a reconciliation between herself and Band Leader Artie Shaw had been effected or was in the offing.

Stories of a reconciliation between the couple were published following a night club date that the blonde film beauty kept with Shaw last night. They were married in 1940 and separated soon afterward.

"I was out with Mr. Shaw last night but the word marriage was never mentioned," Miss Turner said. "I doubt if it was even thought of."

She added there was "no changing" of her mind and concluded: "That goes for Mr. Shaw too."

Another Sea Battle With Nazis Revealed

Germans Defeated In Conflict Off Coast Of Iceland, Near Approaches To Russia

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The U. S. Navy has had a big battle with Nazi surface and submarine raiders off the coast of Iceland and off the Norwegian approaches to the Russian Arctic ports.

The fight took place early this week and the Nazis definitely came off second best.

The Navy either sank or captured a new type of German war vessel, a mosquito boat carrier. Operating like an airplane carrier, this ship carried a flotilla of small, speedy torpedo launches which were scouring the vital shipping lanes around Iceland.

The carrier was guarded by a number of U-boats, which attacked our naval ships when they went after the carrier. Some of the U-boats were either sunk or captured in the engagement.

What losses, if any, the Navy sustained are not yet known as only the barest details of the battle are so far available. However, it can be definitely stated, that the Nazis were soundly licked.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The Navy today withheld comment on published reports that American warships had engaged in a battle with German surface raiders and submarines near Norwegian approaches to Russian Arctic ports.

Questioned about the report, a Navy spokesman replied: "The Navy has no comment on naval secrets."

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14—A jolting, 20-second earthquake, perhaps the heaviest since the catastrophe of March, 1933, struck Los Angeles and surrounding cities at 12:42 a. m. today, causing considerable damage.

The major shock was felt as far south as San Diego and as far north as Santa Barbara, but only lightly.

LITVINOFF, TWO OTHER ATTACHES REPORTED SAFE

LONDON, Nov. 14—The transport plane which left Kuibyshev in Russia for Teheran, Iran, with a number of British, Russian and American officials on board but failed to reach its destination on schedule was reported safe today.

A Reuters (British) dispatch from Cairo said it was authoritatively stated there that the plane made a safe landing at Pabevi.

Aboard the craft were Laurence A. Steinhardt, American ambassador to Russia, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian envoy to the United States, and Sir Walter Monckton, director of British Information Services in the middle east.

Previously, London officials had expressed fears the plane might have crashed.

Monckton was reported continuing his journey to the middle east.

AKRON FACTORY WINS CONTRACT FOR 21 AIRSHIPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The Navy today announced award of a contract to the Goodyear Aircraft Co., Akron, O., for the construction of 21 non-rigid, long range, patrol type airships.

The ships will be 250 feet in length and each will cost about $250,000. The Navy previously had ordered six of the same type of craft.

F. D. WINNER IN CLOSE VOTE ON REPEAL OF ACT

U. S. Merchant Vessels May Carry Munitions Into Belligerent Ports

ALL RESTRICTIONS END

Executive Has Right To Send Goods Anywhere He Wishes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—The Navy today ordered immediate preparations to arm American merchant ships as President Roosevelt—happy over his greatest congressional victory on foreign policy—awaited delivery of the bill repealing all major shipping restrictions in the Neutrality Act.

The final seal of congressional approval was written by the House after a hectic battle in which it approved senate amendments to its armed ship bill by a vote of 212 to 194. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to sign the measure Monday.

Congress, by repealing the Neutrality Act ban on arming of merchant ships and sending them through combat zones to belligerent ports, gave Mr. Roosevelt vast authority in the field of world relations.

He may now send American ships from U. S. ports, laden with munitions, to the docks in Liverpool, to China, to Russia, or any belligerent port. He may, legislative experts say, use his authority as commander-in-chief to order the navy and air service to convoy ships through submarine-infested zones.

In its action Congress turned its back on a unique experiment to keep the nation out of foreign wars. It repealed all former provisions of an act first enacted six years ago. It abandoned law to keep merchant ships out of war zones, and thus avoid incidents which may cause war, in favor of a policy of permitting the President to order ships to sail the seven seas to deliver munitions to enemies of the axis nations.

The House stood by the President after a tumultuous two-day debate, with some foes of the proposal asserting that it was tantamount to a war declaration. Speaker Sam Rayburn, however, declared that approval was more likely to preserve peace than defeat.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of the non-interventionists, refused to concede that the vote plunges the nation into war. He (Continued on Page Two)

Germans Will Fire On U. S. Ships, Berlin Says

BERLIN, Nov. 14—American merchant vessels entering battle zones will be shot at a German foreign office spokesman announced today. Commenting on the revision of the American Neutrality Act, the spokesman said:

"American merchant ships which enter the battle zones face the same fate as anyone attempting to invade the no man's land between the Russo-German lines outside of Leningrad."

The spokesman indicated the German navy would adhere to Chancellor Hitler's orders not to shoot at American warships outside battle zones unless German vessels are attacked.

ROME, Nov. 14—Revision of the American Neutrality Act's major shipping restrictions drew a comment from the newspaper Popolo Di Roma today that "it will not be long before the North American gesture will have logical and fatal consequences."

The newspaper charged that the "scant" congressional majority and the manner in which the amendments were passed by the House in Washington "shows clearly that President Roosevelt

TOKYO, Nov. 14—The Japanese (Domei) news agency charged today that revision of the United States Neutrality Act "is certain to aggravate the situation in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans."

The agency quoted "informed Japanese circles" as stating they interpreted the congressional vote to amend the neutrality law as "approval of President Roosevelt's war policies."

The newspaper Hoshi said that if the "United States cannot hope for peace in the Pacific if it continues attempts to threaten Japan."

MANY NEW MEN TO TAKE POSTS WITH DIVISION

Number Serving Now To Be Used As Instructors
For Rookies

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 14—In preparation for hundreds of new men who will soon replace 28-year-olds in the 37th Division, members of the division's Signal Company at present are being groomed for positions as instructors.

For practice in the art of teaching, company members are now conducting a communication and code school for representatives of every regiment in the division. The school is stressing the theory and practice of telephone, telegraph, radio, pigeon, and message center work.

In addition, advanced courses are being given company members in the theory and practice of radio and telephone electricity. The theory is presented to the men in the class room, then is put into practice on the field, according to Captain Raymond Strasburger, company commander, who prides his unit for not having lost contact with higher headquarters during the August-September maneuvers.

Many Given Schooling

Most of the company's 200 men have had previous civilian experience in communications work. And many have become specialists through attendance at communication schools at Camp Shelby and Fort Monmouth, N. J.

New telephone and radio equipment has been received by communication units throughout the division. Captain Strasburger discloses. Outstanding is the new vehicular radio set capable of contacting units as far as 20 miles away. Range of the older, smaller sets often was limited to four or five miles.

Although radio communications are more in keeping with the trend of modern blitz warfare, the telephone still has its vital place. Captain Strasburger points out. Wire often is laid with such rapidity it can compete with radio for early contact with rear echelons. The telephone still has the advantage of establishing communication lines over greater distances than radio.

However, all means of contact—wire, telegraph, radio, pigeon, and runner—are used to insure arrival of important messages from front line troops in the event one or more lines of communication fail to function.

To assist in the school being conducted at present, training films have frequently been resorted to. As one of its functions, the division signal company distributes training films to the entire division, supplying the various regiments with both projectors and operators.

YOUTHS GO TO JAIL ON AUTO RANSACKING CHARGE

Two 19-year old Pickaway County boys, Harvey Winn of New Holland and James Garvey, Wayne Township, were fined $200 and costs each by Mayor W. B. Cady, Thursday night, for theft of articles from the automobile of Dennis Capper, Monroe Township.

An additional sentence of 60 days was added to the fine against Garvey "because of his conduct."

Garvey refused to tell sheriff's officers what he and Winn had done with the tail lights and wrenches they had taken from Capper's car. Later it was discovered the pair had thrown the stolen goods in a creek.

Both youths have served time for stealing sheep from local farmers and Winn was released from County Jail two weeks ago after serving time for stealing gasoline.

GREAT RUSSIAN COUNTER GAINS BEING CLAIMED

"Tremendous" Victory Cited On Moscow Front By Tass Agency

fire and the region was described as a scene of vast destruction which was termed the "Soviets' stroke-hold."

Thousands of German and Italian dead were reported lying in the streets of towns and "stiffening in the night frost."

In a gigantic tank and infantry battle that lasted two weeks on the Moscow Front, it was stated, no less than 29,000 Germans were killed or wounded.

New German attacks on Leningrad were shattered, authorities declared, while in the Crimea the Nazis suffered further heavy losses in furious fighting.

(Editor's Note: Dispatches from Berlin said the Germans have claimed important new advances in the Crimean Peninsula and indicated Nazi occupation of the port of Kerch, facing the Caucasus, is imminent. The Nazis were stated to have reached the narrow strait of Kerch, which separates the eastern Crimea from the Caucasian Coast.)

LONDON ADMITS LOSS OF CRAFT

Ark Royal remained afloat for many hours, Rescue ships had time to reach the scene, and heavy hawsers were attached to the stricken ship in a desperate attempt to tow her to port, probably Gibraltar.

Only a skeleton crew was left aboard, it appeared.

How much progress the limping convoy made was not revealed. But in the early hours of this morning, the rush of water smashed bulkheads and the Ark Royal began to go down. The tow-lines were cut and the vessel permitted to sink to its fate.

"Heroine" of Movie

Meanwhile, the Ark Royal is the "heroine" of a British naval film, "Ships With Wings," now playing to capacity audiences in London's west end.

(The Ark Royal, completed in 1937, displaced about 27,000 tons when fully loaded, and carried a complement of 1,575 officers and men. According to Jane's Fighting Ships, it carried 60 aircraft.)

The admiralty statement said:

"The Board of Admiralty regrets to announce that the aircraft carrier Ark Royal, under command of Capt. L. E. H. Maud, C. B. E., has been sunk.

"She was in tow after having been torpedoed by a U-boat."

Details Not Known

Exact details regarding casualties are not yet known, but reports indicate they are fortunately not heavy, as it is known a very large number of the ship's company was taken off.

"Next of kin of the casualties are being informed as soon as possible."

U. S. Merchant Vessels May Carry Munitions Into Belligerent Ports

declared that the battle against war would continue.

Army to Start

While Secretary of the Navy Knox prepared to arm ships, only President Roosevelt could say whether American vessels will begin to deliver munitions to British ports.

Knox said that American merchant ships will be armed as they come into port. The process may take months. Navy officers estimated that several hundred out of 1,200 merchant ships—including both those plying the Atlantic and the Pacific—will be armed.

The Navy plans to put 10-man gun crews on the ships. They will be armed, officers said, with three to five-inch guns, which can be used either against submarines or airplanes.

During the World War, Navy records show, 384 ships were armed. While no record of sinking of a submarine was established, the navy estimated that there were over 200 encounters between armed merchantmen and submarines, that 193 attacks were repulsed, and that 34 submarines were damaged.

Mr. Roosevelt, jubilant over the result, telephoned his congratulations to Speaker Rayburn and Democratic Floor Leader McCormack.

Secretary of State Hull said "it was an exceedingly wise and timely decision." Knox said the action insures that both the ships and the men will be available to deliver defense aid materials at allied ports and "greatly increases promise of ultimate victory" for Britain, China and Russia.

After the vote administration leaders revealed that they believed yesterday morning they were beaten. They appealed to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, who responded by providing letters which were read to the House. Mr. Roosevelt not only declared that defeat of the senate amendments would discourage Hitler's foes, but would be applauded in Berlin. Both Mr. Roosevelt and Hull personally talked to wavering Congressmen.

The margin of victory, despite work of leaders, was small. A switch of 10 votes would have sunk the senate amendments. The vote showed 189 Democrats, 22 Republicans and one American-Laborite for the bill, which 53 Democrats, 137 Republicans, three Progressives and one Farmer-Laborite against it.

Some Republicans boasted that they saved the bill for the White House. They pointed out that the 22 Republicans who voted for it provided the margin of victory.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First Committee, expressed hope today that the closeness of the House vote on repeal of shipping restrictions of the Neutrality Act would have a cautioning effect on President Roosevelt.

"It is to be hoped," Gen. Wood said, "that the closeness of the vote will cause President Roosevelt to proceed cautiously with his plans to send ships to the British Isles and into the war zones."

"The vote shows that in spite of tremendous pressure put on by the administration, it was barely able to bring about the repeal." Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice-chairman of the committee, said:

"We are cheered by the closeness of the vote, and we are also cheered by the fact that the British Broadcasting Company was heard to comment that the vote was too close. This is, after all, only an engagement we have lost. The fight is still ahead of us. The country is not at war until Congress so votes, and our members are eager to continue the fight."

Vladimir Macek, Croatian leader, has been sent to a concentration camp in Austria.

LONDON — The Air Ministry announced today that German raiders dropped a few bombs on southwestern England during the night, causing some damage and a "small number of casualties."

HONG KONG—Japanese military reinforcements today were reported massing in the Canton area of southern China. It was understood in Hong Kong that Britons in Canton have been urged to register for evacuation.

VICHY — Premier Mussolini sent personal and the Italian government's official condolences to French Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain today over the death of French War Minister Gen. Charles Huntziger. Otto Abetz, German representative in Paris who will represent Chancellor Hitler at Huntziger's funeral, was expected to reach Vichy late this afternoon.

FIVE YOUNGSTERS RATE EAGLE SCOUT RANKINGS

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 14.—Five Chillicothe youths were made Eagle Scouts Thursday evening at the Chillicothe District Court of Honor held at the Elks' auditorium.

Receiving Eagle Scout awards were Robert J. Smith, Lloyd Bostwick, Alan Augustus, William Kelly and Jack Gallaher.

dential nominee, today hailed as "gratifying" the adoption by congress of amendments to the Neutrality Act.

Willkie, however, blamed the administration's "negligence and muddling in the solution of our industrial labor relations problem" for the narrow margin by which the changes squeezed by the House. He said:

"The close vote in the House of Representatives, however, is unfortunate, because it gives a false impression of the true sentiments of America toward the policy of aggressive aid to the democracies and of America's intent to maintain her right to freedom of the seas."

"Undoubtedly the vote was in part retaliation by Congress for the administration's negligence and muddling in the solution of our industrial labor relations problem, and for its utter disregard of the needs and rights of large elements of our population in the handling of our domestic and foreign defense program."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of Senate non-interventionists, gave notice today that repeal of major Neutrality Act provisions will not halt the drive to keep America out of major participation in a foreign war.

Unlike many foes of Neutrality Act revision, Wheeler refused to concede that scrapping of combat zone provisions is tantamount to war.

"We are going to keep on fighting against total war," he said. "I do not think that repeal of shipping restrictions in the Neutrality Act necessarily means war."

"In closing debate in the House the argument was made by Speaker Rayburn and Democratic Leader McCormack that the bill was a peace measure."

"The President cannot take us to war with a divided country. With all the pressure exerted by the administration, with the White House calling members, with political bosses from all parts of the country calling members, the House concurred in senate amendments by only 18 votes. A switch of 10 votes would have beaten it."

"There probably never has been as much pressure brought to bear as was brought on members of the House. Even Ed Flynn, Democratic national chairman, came down from New York."

"The President no longer has an alibi if he wants to keep us out of war."

QUAKE SHAKES AREA ON COAST

Angeles, reported heaviest damage. Blackouts from damaged power wires, broken crockery and windows, and temporarily disrupted water and gas mains were reported in Los Angeles proper and scores of other communities within the county limits.

Three blocks of stores and offices in the business district of Gardena were badly damaged, police reported. The corner of a bank building there was shattered, plate glass windows were broken and merchandise in retail stores was sent crashing to the floors. Several walls were knocked down.

Buildings Tremble

Buildings in the downtown district of Los Angeles trembled and creaked under the impact of the shock, but authorities reported no serious damage was done.

Burglar alarms by the score were set off, however, and lights in many sections of the city went out for a few seconds.

Householders, rudely awakened by the jolt, reported that dishes rattled furiously, some said windows panes had been cracked, and others reported cracked plaster.

In Torrance, a few miles beyond Gardena, windows of several stores were broken, three water mains burst and a gas main was broken.

Wilmington firemen were called to a storage tank belonging to the General Petroleum Company when the quake apparently caused its seams to open, sending thousands of gallons of crude oil flowing across streets and highways.

In the same vicinity an 8-inch line carrying natural gas was broken, and deputies were forced to rope off the area as a fire precaution until workmen could shut off the flow.

In Long Beach, 25 miles south of Los Angeles, the shock was felt by the entire city, and reports from there said that several plate glass windows in department stores were broken. Cracks were said to have been made in an apartment house.

At the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation in San Pedro a 4800-volt power line was downed and an unestimated amount of damage was caused to several transformers.

The suburb of Inglewood, 12 miles southwest of Los Angeles, apparently was the center of the quake, according to George B. Stewart, seismologist, but no serious damage was done there.

RAYMOND THOMAS DIES AT HOME ON ROUTE 104

A heart attack caused the sudden death of Raymond Thomas, Thursday, at 8:30 a. m. at his home on Route 104. Mr. Thomas, who was 49, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Almina Thomas, and two brothers, Edward and Russell, of the home.

HELD FOR PATROL

Police, Friday, were holding Thomas Irwin, 31, Stoutsville Route 1, for the state highway patrol on a charge of hit-skip driving. The patrol told local officers Irwin was wanted in Delaware County for leaving the scene of an accident on October 27, 1941.

OPEN LETTERS

TO HUNTERS

MEN: Here is a last warning to you to use every safety precaution in handling your guns when you invade Pickaway County's fields and woodlots beginning Saturday noon. Conservation officers have predicted more hunters this year than ever before, since there is considerable game and since the season opens Saturday noon, making it possible for many city sportsmen to get away from their work. Pickaway County last year was fortunate in having no serious accidents, but there were numerous accidents over the state. Practically all of them were caused by the careless handling of guns.

"Hunt Safely—Return Safely" is the slogan of the hunting season in Ohio. When Ohio nimrods take to the fields they have an opportunity of setting a new record for safety. Conservation commissioners recently issued a timely warning to all sportsmen urging them to follow the "ten commandments of safety" and reciting some of the "dos" and "don'ts" that will save the lives of many hunters if they will heed them. Not only did they urge them to use care that they not become involved in a hunting accident but they also urged them to be real sportsmen; to ask permission of the farmer before hunting on his land and to so conduct themselves that they might be welcome guests on that land. Farmer-sportsmen relationships have greatly improved during the last few years. In fact the farmer himself is a sportsman and it is wrong to even class some as farmers and others as sportsmen—so let us say that those sportsmen who live in town should co-operate with those sportsmen who live on farms. Be careful. Be courteous, this hunting season.

TO EVERYONE

FOLK: The yearly Red Cross roll call which began November 11 should receive a bigger response than ever this year if the public realizes all that the organization is doing. Expenditures for war relief abroad amounted to nearly $50,000,000 at the end of June. The need is great and includes everything from clothing and medical supplies to comfort and information for scattered refugee families. Meanwhile the home activities of the Red Cross are not neglected, and these depend for their support on the membership dollars which are paid or pledged in November. It should not be necessary to tell many Americans what those home activities are—disaster relief, service to the armed forces, public health and home nursing, accident prevention and life saving instruction. There are many different appeals for financial aid these days. Special needs caused by war in other parts of the world have touched the heart of America and moved our people to great generosity. But we must not, for such reasons, slacken in vital work at home. Membership for the year 1939-40 was 7,139,263. The total this year ought to be pushed up to 10,000,000 by a nation aware of its blessings and opportunities.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

GENTLEMEN: Results of a recent school bus inspection by the State Highway Patrol have shown that this year Pickaway County has ten buses rated as class A, nine more than last year. To get such a rating a school bus must be almost mechanically perfect. Brakes must be in good condition, there must be lights and safety devices which meet the rigid standards of the highway patrol. Of the ten buses placed in the class A group three are board-owned. Others are owned and maintained by private drivers. Of the county's seventy-five buses 61 received a rating of class B with only minor defects discovered. Only four buses were placed in class C. The report indicates that bus drivers as well as school authorities and boards of education are interested in the safe transportation of their school pupils. A bus in good mechanical condition is one of the requisites in getting youngsters safely to and from school.

TO KIWANIS CLUB

MEMBERS: The crowd that visited the Grand Theatre Wednesday night to see the first in a series of amateur programs sponsored by you and the Grand Theatre management indicates that the idea has met with the approval of the public. Another thing which the program showed was that there is much talent in our schools which is encouraged by such programs. That talent is not in any one school, even though that school may get the prize. It is scattered throughout the county and can thrive and grow under such encouragement as you are giving it.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ARMISTICE SPONSORS

VETERANS: Although the weatherman was determined to break up your program by trying to send a shivering audience home before the ceremonies were completed, your Armistice Day program on the steps of the Elks Lodge was impressive and attracted a surprisingly large number of persons. Many have pointed to the irony of holding Armistice Day services in times when half the world is at war, but conditions abroad cannot detract from the significance of honoring those who already have sacrificed their lives for freedom, nor can they minimize the value of ideals for which those lives were given.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By— Charles P. Stewart

"HONEST" Harold Ickes is whetting his knife to skin another cat—a different breed of cat from the ones he's used to skinning, too.

There always are objectors to cat skinning, and to this prospective affair plenty of objections will come from some of Harold's oldest political friends, including aged Senator George W. Norris, Chairman David Lilienthal of TVA, Homer T. Bone, the state of Washington's senatorial gamecock, now in the hospital, and many another veteran of the late wars against the so-called "Power Trust."

To mix metaphors, Harold is playing for high stakes. He wants to be personal dictator over all the electric power (hence the economic and industrial life) of the Pacific northwest. The nucleus would be the giant federal Columbia River dams at Bonneville and Grand Coulee.

His opponents, though, want this power empire ruled by a three-man, presidentially appointed board, like the Tennessee Valley Authority—not an absolute dictatorship but responsible to the White House.

The fight presents a spectacle somewhat similar to a row among the expectant heirs of a sick man, who, however, hasn't definitely decided yet to die and leave his estate to 'em. That is, both sides to the power argument proceed on the assumption that the privately-owned utilities, representing a half billion-dollar investment, are about to yield to public ownership pressure and retire from the field, with what they can salvage through condemnation proceedings or negotiation sales. If so, the would-be dictator or proposed three-man authority will inherit what the private companies abandon.

Such gassing isn't so far off, at that, if either of two pending bills becomes law.

ADMINISTRATION DIFFERS

The only significant difference between the Ickes bill (known as the Hill bill) and the Bone-Smith bill (embodying the Authoritarianism plan) lies in the manner in which Pacific Northwest public power will be administered.

Both are popularly called the "CVA bill"—CVA for Columbia Valley Administration (the Ickes concept) and also for Columbia Valley Authority (the Bone-Smith plan). Both provide funds and authority for seizure of the entire privately-owned utility systems of the region, and theoretically, at least, there's no boundary or limit to the extent of the chosen agency's operations.

So angry has Ickes become that he's publicly charged his opposition, and Senator Bone specifically, with being mere "stooges of the Power Trust." Bone!—whose whole political career rests on the keystone of opposition to private utilities!

The Washington senator's having a long convalescence from a broken hip and hasn't yet taken the congressional floor to answer Ickes, but when he does his remarks should be worth listening to. He has a low boiling point, anyway, and a man could sit all day thinking a goat-getting observation about him without improving on the one Ickes pulled. Dave Lilienthal is said to have drafted the Authoritarian feature of the Bone-Smith bill, which has the endorsement of the dean of all utility-baiters, Senator Norris.

On the opposite hand, Harold asserts that President Roosevelt is on his side, as is Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican leader in the legislators' upper chamber. How strong his support will be in a pinch is problematic.

Still another group in the Pacific northwest, consisting of reclamation and business organizations, allied with cities which already have publicly-owned electric systems and which fear federal domination, opposes both the Ickes and Bone-Smith plans and is pushing for "home rule" administration.

PRIVATE FIRMS SILENT

The private utilities are maintaining a discreet silence. They'd like to work out an agreement for power interchange on a basis that wouldn't further duplicate their systems. But that wouldn't make either Ickes or Bone happy.

Meantime the Ickes-Authoritarian conflict is raging on another front. Again drafted by Lilienthal and introduced by Representative Clyde T. Ellis of Arkansas, in a paraphrase of the Bone-Smith bill, there's pending an Arkansas Valley Authority bill, embracing all or part of eight states. Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, though is fighting for the Arkansas Valley adoption of the Ickes program. There may, indeed, be an A.V.A. trial skirmish before the main showdown on the two CVA propositions.

They're all scheduled for hearings later in this session.

Effects of Climate and Humidity on Arthritis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● The sufferer with chronic arthritis gets along all right in our North American summer, but with winter just around the corner, he begins to want to go to some climate where the weather at least won't be considered an enemy and add to the discomfort.

Where to go is a problem. If I can judge of its extent by inquiries Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ies in my mail, it affects a good many people. Of course an easy answer is to go to a winter climate as nearly like the summer climate where you were comfortable, but that is not always possible.

Some people are so suspicious that they want to know how much arthritis the natives have before they settle down somewhere. My Uncle Johnny was like that. He was a rare sufferer from arthritis, and once my father sent him to a resort, for which we had heard great claims as to its arthritis treatments. My Uncle Johnny went, but he came back in four days. He said the first day he went to the pool of the healing waters and an attendant, waist deep in the pool, applied them all over my Uncle Johnny's joints.

Gave Up Treatment

It appeared to do him a world of good, and he went back next day for more. He asked for the same attendant, but was told he was home with an attack of arthritis. My Uncle Johnny packed his grips and made for the train. He said if a man who had stood waist deep in that healing water for twenty years got arthritis, it was no treatment for him.

That is mixing things up. What brings arthritis on, we don't know, and it may attack a person in a climate that makes for the maximum of comfort for other arthritic patients. Climate is a composite of temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, atmospheric electricity and other factors. Drs. Rentschler, Vanzant and Rontree found in a study of "Arthritic

Pain in Relation to Change in Weather" that barometric pressure influenced the symptoms of arthritis more consistently than temperature or humidity. This, of course, is no news to the old farmer who can tell when a storm is brewing on account of his knees and fingers.

Effect of Humidity

Humidity does play a part. The arthritic feels better on cold, dry days than on hot, damp days; and on hot, humid days they may feel worse than in winter. Despite the cold none of Scott's or Shackleton's arctic explorers had rheumatism or arthritic symptoms.

Despite the shifts in temperature between winter days and nights in Arizona, arthritic patients feel better there because of the stability of barometric pressure and humidity.

Of importance for all arthritics is what Leonard Hill in "Rheumatism and Climate" called the "micro-climate" of home and working place. Here temperature and dampness can make the arthritic very uncomfortable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. B.: "Is there anything wrong or harmful in the combination of orange juice and milk? I drink a glass each for breakfast—not mixed but separate—and my mother insists it is a bad combination."

Answer: Nothing the least harmful in the combination of orange juice and milk. Orange juice adds vitamins and sugar and energy to the diet, the milk gives nourishment and calcium. They are digested together without harming one another or straining the stomach. Little babies get the combination—so it should be all right.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

A Maid in Manhattan

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS
FRED MOSHER, up-and-coming young real estate dealer in a southern town, long has been the suitor of SUSAN FARMER, who has rejected all his proposals because she feels that she has the duty of replenishing the family fortune for her aunt. MISS ALICE FARMER, who lives with Susan on the family plantation. ROY LEONARD, inspired by the memory of a farm girl he met when he was 16, is the young advertising man who gets the idea of a contest to find the "typical farmer's daughter." He is engaged to marry IRENE CARTER, secretary to the head of the company.

CHAPTER SEVEN
MISS CARTER went back to watching the vice president, the second vice president and the stockholders, as they read Susan Farmer's letter and examined her picture.

There was no doubting the fact that they were impressed. In fact, Irene thought, impressed was hardly the word. As Susan's picture left a masculine hand, it left a masculine face looking dreamy, sentimental, romantic. It was as though the mere glimpse of Susan's smiling face had stirred memories that were warm and sweet.

"Men!" said Irene under her breath. "Just a lot of silly sorters—that's all."

She looked at Roy Leonard, advertising man—the man she was planning to marry—about to turn nursemaid to a bit of femininity from a farm. It was disgusting. A little while ago he hadn't had time for anything but work, the struggle to put this advertising stunt over, and now there he sat, looking positively angelic because he was going to neglect the advertising job in order to see Manhattan island with a female boob. Men!

"It's not," said Daniel Van Wert Jones was saying, "that I don't think this Susan Farmer appears to have all the qualifications Dainty Diana Dairies has been looking for in the typical farmer's daughter—it's not that."

"Then what in blazes is it?" said Mr. Jones. "Get to the point, woman—get to the point."

"I feel it's wrong to reach out and pluck her from her peaceful surroundings, and dump her down in—"

"Nobody's going to dump her down anywhere, Mr. Jones cut in. 'She'll be met with a band at Pennsylvania station and escorted up to Broadway to Radio Center, where—'

"May I make a suggestion, Mr. Jones?" Irene asked. "Certainly you may," Mr. Jones smiled benignly. "You know I always encourage my employees to speak out."

"It's about Mr. Leonard."

"Yes, go on."

"Don't you think it would be a good idea to have him wear a suit of armor?"

"Armor?" said Roy. "What for?"

"Yes, Miss Carter, what for?" said Mr. Jones. "It would make him look like a Knight of Old, protecting his lady fair," said Irene. "And then there's the advertising space."

"What advertising space?"

"On the armor, you know—the words 'Dainty Diana Dairies' painted across his back and front."

Irene shrugged. "Only there's a chance that someone might mistake him for a can of milk."

Mr. Jones showed his displeasure.

"Jealous?" asked Roy. He didn't wait for an answer.

"Miss Carter," he said, "this is no time for flippancy."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Jones. Only I wasn't being flippancy."

Roy tried to get a word in, but there was no time for further talk. Mr. Jones had taken the floor, and was calling for votes.

Soon the room was full of suggestions and discussions. I think this . . . I think that. We ought to see that the girl is constantly in the spotlight. . . . Get her on radio programs as a guest. . . . Have her seen, simply gowned, at this theater and that one. . . . Let her be seen strolling along Fifth Avenue in her gingham gown and sunbonnet.

"And land in Bellevue as a result," said Irene.

"Keep quiet," said Roy. "Of all things!"

"And," said Mrs. Jones, "she can stay with us, Daniel Van Wert, where I can keep an eye on her."

"Nonsense!" said Mr. Jones. "She's going to stay at a hotel on Park Avenue—for contrast, you know."

"Oh, piffle!"

"She's got to be accessible to news photographers, reporters—be where she can be interviewed, seen. Isn't that right, gentlemen?"

"Quite right!" said the vice president and seven stockholders in unison.

The voting went on. So did the discussion.

"And now, gentlemen," Mr. Jones said finally, "the winner is Miss Susan Farmer, of Ardendale." He bowed to Susan's picture, which was propped up in front of him. "Miss Typical Farmer's Daughter, we salute you! Your picture shall be on all the Dainty Diana Dairy products, and—"

"Especially the strong cheese," said Irene.

"What's that, Miss Carter?"

"Nothing, sir."

"Mrs. Jones spoke up again. 'Well, the least you can do, Daniel Van Wert,' she said, 'is to permit me to give a dinner for the girl.'"

"We shall see," said Mr. Jones.

"We shall see." An hour passed . . . two hours. And then the conference was adjourned.

Plans had been made to set the machinery into motion.

Soon the world at large would be informed that Miss Susan Farmer of Ardendale was the lucky girl—the girl chosen by Dainty Diana Dairies as the winner of the free trip to New York and the $5,000 cash prize.

There was to be a general hook-up of radio stations for a tremendous and exciting broadcast on such and such an evening. There would be whole page advertisements in various daily papers throughout the country. And so on, and so on—

Plans . . . plans . . . plans. "Just a moment, Leonard," Mr. Jones called, as Roy was about to leave the room. "I want you to get things in your office in shape, so that you can give practically all your time to Miss Farmer."

Yes, sir," said Roy. Irene looked at him and made a face.

"While you're at it," she said softly, so that Mr. Jones couldn't hear, "you might plan a chapter for your memoirs, and call it 'From Ad Man to Nursemaid.'"

"Jealous?" asked Roy. He didn't wait for an answer, but hurried from the room.

Mr. Jones turned to Irene. "Miss Carter, take a letter," he said.

"Yes, sir."

"To Miss Susan Farmer of Ardendale—and send it Special Delivery." Now HE had that dreamy look, as though suddenly filled with warm and happy memories. "We must lose no time in informing the dear girl of her extraordinary good fortune."

"No, sir," said Irene. "That would be downright cruel."

She reached for her notebook. Mr. Jones cleared his throat. A moment later he was dictating the letter which reached Susan Farmer early the next evening.

Two Hundred and Fifty
At Altar Guild's Party

Social Function
Big Success
Thursday

Outstanding socially was the card party of the Altar Guild of St. Joseph's Catholic Church when about 250 persons gathered Thursday in the church social room for the largest social function of the fall season. Sponsored by the finance committee of the Guild, Mrs. Ralph Head as general chairman was assisted by Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, Mrs. Ned Landis and Mrs. Tom Lake, co-chairmen, the four being members of this committee.

Baskets of garden chrysanthemums made a colorful background for the party. Forty-five tables of four-hand card games were in play during the affair, in addition to other amusing games. Many guests passed the evening in informal visiting.

Prizes were awarded the high score holders at each table.

Ice cream and home-made cake were served at the small tables after the hour of play.

Frank Lynch conducted a lively auction of donated articles at the close of the party.

Mrs. Head's committee chairmen included Mrs. Joe Burns, chairman of properties; Mrs. Allen Thornton, prizes; Mrs. Tom Gilliland and Miss Marie More-shauser, tickets; Mrs. Charles Brannon and Miss Mary McKen-zie, food, dishes and silver, and Miss Anna Shea, publicity.

Mrs. J. C. Rader, president of the Altar Guild, assisted in the work of the committees, all Guild members responded with help in various capacities.

HAWKEYES MAY SURPRISE FAST GOPHER OUTFIT

Iowa Being Groomed For Major Upset In Race For Big 10 Title

By Graham Hovey

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Three weeks ago it looked like a sure-fire breather for the Golden Gophers, but today the Iowa-Minnesota clash at Iowa City shaped up as one of the probable standout games of tomorrow's football schedule.

Admittedly, the Hawkeyes and Gophers will yield a substantial share of the midwest grid spotlight to the Northwestern-Notre Dame game at Evanston, but a suspicion is gaining headway around the Big Ten that the game at Iowa City might turn out to be the better of the two.

On paper, Iowa has had enough all season to stage a strenuous argument with Minnesota, but until two weeks ago the Hawks seemed to be travelling in the same rut frequented by their predecessors during much of the last decade.

Then they came to life long enough to stage a last-half rally and beat Indiana, 13 to 7. They followed it up last week by thrashing Illinois, 21 to 0. Perhaps the magic of Dr. Eddie Anderson turned the tide, just as it did so spectacularly when he first took over at Iowa before the 1939 season. Perhaps it was simply a case of a good ball club finding itself after a period of aimless wallowing.

13-9 Game Recalled
At any rate, the Iowa team as of today bears more than a remote resemblance to the Hawkeye "wonder team" of two years ago, which staged one sensational last-half rally after another, won all its games but two, and smashed mighty Minnesota, 13 to 9.

More important than the individual performers involved is the fact that morale is soaring in the Iowa camp. The Hawks believe they have a chance to win—and when they feel in that frame of mind, they can be tough for anyone, particularly the Gophers. The northern should win, but unless they are ready for a tough ball game an upset is a distinct possibility.

Reams have been written about the Northwestern-Notre Dame affair, but the final analysis it shapes up as a close game with an edge for the Irish on a dry field because of Angelo Bertelli's passing.

The real factor in the outcome probably will be the effectiveness of Northwestern's pass defense, which has been less than sensational thus far in the season. If the Wildcats can knock down a decent percentage of Bertelli's tosses, their powerful running game and the passing of Otto Graham should pull them through.

At Madison, it will be offense versus defense, as the Badgers of Wisconsin, most prolific scorers Boilermakers, whose defense has of the Big Ten, take on Purdue's topped all other conference teams but Minnesota's.

Ohio State's Buckeyes should have little trouble retaining their slim chance for the conference championship by turning back luckless Illinois at Columbus, but Michigan may have a tough time in a non-conference tussle with Columbia in New York, although the Wolves are favored. Indiana is idle tomorrow.

Buckeyes Should Take Illini, But Will They?

By Irven Scheibel

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—A football series which annually ignores the present to delve into the glories of the past is renewed here tomorrow when Ohio State and Illinois clash in a Homecoming gridiron spectacle before 50,000 spectators.

Illinois, unsuccessful in every major game this season, is rated as a dangerous opponent strictly on memory, by certain oldsters who recall only those momentary upsets of 1919 and 1921 completely ignoring the fact that in recent years, the Zuppemen have provided little better than a brisk workout for the big, powerful teams which annually sweep out of the Ohio State dressing room.

For instance, Illinois hasn't won a game in the stadium since 1929; Illinois has won but one game out of the last 11, a 14-13 decision in 1935, and Illinois, in the cold light of critical analysis, doesn't figure to finish within three touchdowns of the Buckeyes if the game follows the form chart in any particular. Once on a time, Ohio State-Illinois games had the element of uncertainty. The last few starts have produced uncertainty only in the size of the score the Buckeyes have been able to register. Even in 1939, the last year Illinois enjoyed any success at all in conference play, defeating a great Michigan team among others, the Buckeyes had no trouble in producing a three-touchdown victory. Last year, a disension-riddled Ohio State team took Illinois in stride to win, 14 to 8.

CLEVELANDER TO SEEK BIG TILTS IN SQUARED RING

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14 — A heavyweight elimination in Cleveland to determine the outstanding challenger for the crown ensconced on the ebony head of Joe Louis took form rapidly today as Bob Brickman—the little attorney-fight promoter with the magic touch—dreamed of 1942 and big gates.

Brickman, who brought the art of slam back to its rightful place in Cleveland has these possibilities in mind: Bob Pastor to fight the winner of the Melio Bettina-Jimmy Blivins fight next Monday night at the arena, with *e winner in that match to meet Lem Franklin, Cleveland Negro, for the top challenging spot.

None of that can come about, however, until Pastor's hands heal and Franklin recovers from a broken left thumb, received last month when he whipped Abe Simon.

Pastor banged up his tender dukes in beating Booker Beckwith in Chicago so Brickman can't hope for much action from Pastor or Franklin until sometime in January.

Brickman, whose faith in Cleveland fight fandom finally is paying him returns in the form of heavy green stuff, has his matchmaker, Larry Atkins in New York to see the Gus Lemevich-Tami Mauriello bout tonight.

HERALD GUNMEN WINS OPENER BY SINGLE POINT

Hardin	95 I. Bower
Merriman	89 R. Bower

Sweden, a neutral, has already lost 119 ships, sunk since the war began. This proves nothing save, perhaps, that the Swedes have an amazing control of their temper.

Big Scout Rally To Be Staged Here December 4

All Members Of Troops And Their Parents Invited To Major Event

DINNER BEING PLANNED

Leaders Meet Next Week To Outline Program For Activities

Boy Scout Field Executive Robert Scanland announced plans Friday for an annual Boy Scout meeting which will bring together all of the county's scouts, cubs and their parents in one big gathering.

The annual meeting will be held in Memorial Hall Thursday evening, December 4. A pot-luck supper will be among the attractions of the evening. Various demonstrations in scoutcraft will be put on by troops and patrols of the county, and negotiations are being made to secure a speaker and special music for the program.

Scanland predicts that with an all-out attendance more than 400 Scouts and parents will be at the meeting. The affair will be the first of its kind ever held in Pickaway County, but the plan has worked out successfully in neighboring counties and with the cooperation of the scoutmasters, scout officials believe the program will be successful here.

Leaders to Confer

Scouters of the county will meet next Wednesday night, November 19, in the office of William D. Radcliff to make definite plans for the annual meeting and to discuss their program to increase Scout enrollment in the county.

Boy-fact surveys have been made in many communities in the county to determine the number of boys interested in the scouting program. Several troops are in the process of formation at present.

Scouts of the city and county are busy practicing first aid for the district and Council-wide First-Aid-O-Ral in which all Scout troops will take part. The plan has been inaugurated by the Central Ohio Area Council to stimulate Defense and Emergency action of a nature definitely related to the scouting program.

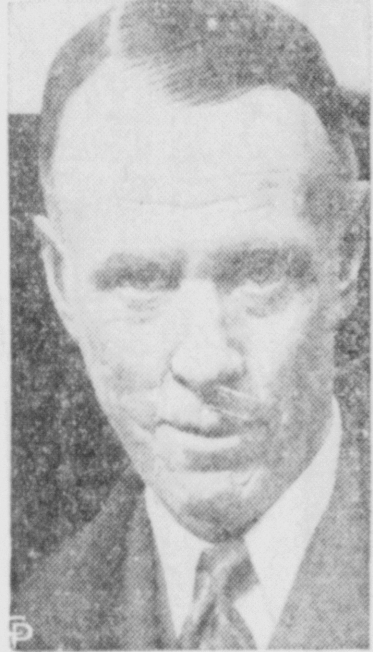

Each Scout troop is entering a team or teams in the District meet for Scouts of Fairfield, Hocking and Pickaway Counties which will be held at the Sherman Armory in Lancaster, Saturday, December 6, at 3 o'clock.

First Aid problems being used are of a practical nature and will train Scouts for active service in any emergencies. Following the District meet winning patrols will go to Columbus during Boy Scout Week in February for an area-wide final contest.

EXPLORER FACES CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—Dr. Arthur Torrence, 55-year-old explorer and authority on tropical diseases, was held by police at Monterrey, Mexico, today on a charge of murdering his wealthy bride, the former Mrs. Ada Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich.

He was arrested three days after his wife had been buried and her death marked down as a routine accident case.

Mrs. Torrence, according to the doctor, died Saturday at the steering wheel of her automobile while driving south of Monterrey. According to police, Dr. Torrence said his wife swerved to avoid a truck and struck her head against the rear-view mirror.

At first this version of the accident was accepted and police permitted the body to be buried without an autopsy.

Later, however, the doctor was detained after Richard Loveland of Los Angeles, Mrs. Torrence's son, flew to Monterrey and investigated his mother's death, advancing the theory she was murdered.

DOCTORS WARN HOUSEWIVES TO WATCH 'FEVER'

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14 — Three important points for hunters and housewives who prepare wild game for cooking to remember if they would avoid the menace of tularemia or "rabbit fever" were cited today by the Ohio State Medical Association on the eve of the hunting season. They were:

1. Always wear rubber gloves when preparing game for cooking, and make certain the gloves are not punctured by knives or bone splinters.

2. Wash blood stains from the skin with plenty of soap and water as quickly as possible and follow the washing with a disinfectant, if available.

3. Cook wild game thoroughly. This kills tularemia germs, but they can live in the red juices of partly cooked meat. Ordinary refrigeration does not kill the organism.

Although 90 percent of tularemia cases are traced to rabbits, the physicians said the disease also has been found in squirrels, opossums, foxes, quail, groundhogs, muskrats and even domestic dogs and cats.

In 1940, 59 cases of tularemia and seven deaths were reported to the state health department, in marked contrast with the 122 cases and 20 deaths from the disease in 1939.

Anti-tularemia serum, developed by Cincinnati medical research workers, is now available to physicians. The serum is said to have proved effective in 99 percent of the cases tried, but it still is in the experimental stage.

OHIO SOLDIERS MAY BE SENT TO COAL FIELDS

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov. 14 —While Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of Ohio's 37th division at Hattiesburg, Miss., was in Washington conferring with the army general staff, it was reported today that the division was under "stand-by" orders.

No official explanation was given for the alert order which was issued Wednesday. However, it was reported that the army plans sending the division into

Pennsylvania or West Virginia coal fields for patrol duty if strikes are not settled.

Inauguration of strike-duty classes in the division gave credence to the report. Troops were being schooled in methods of controlling and dispersing crowds. Col. Charles F. Craig, chief of staff in the absence of General Beightler, said no formal orders regarding troop movement had been received.

In times like these, it is terrible to contemplate the threat of allowing only six percent on investments.

KENTON MAYOR, ELECTED FOR THIRD TERM, DIES

KENTON, Nov. 14.—Elis H. McFarland, 52, mayor of Kenton for four years and re-elected November 4, died of cancer of the lung. He campaigned for re-election on his record of paying $35,000 in unsecured claims inherited from previous administration. McFarland was past president of the chamber of commerce, past commander of the Kenton American Legion post, and active in boy scout, church and civic affairs. He served overseas during the World War. His widow, three daughters and a son survive. Funeral services will be held Sunday.
